THE WIZARD OF OZ

Director's Speech from the Final Performance

Theatre is a collaborative art form and so as the director it is my responsibility to communicate my vision for the staging of the show and then enlist or entice the personnel to see that vision through to realisation. And I must say that it is my great pleasure to work with not only all of our wonderful young people but also all the school staff and members of the community who contribute so much.

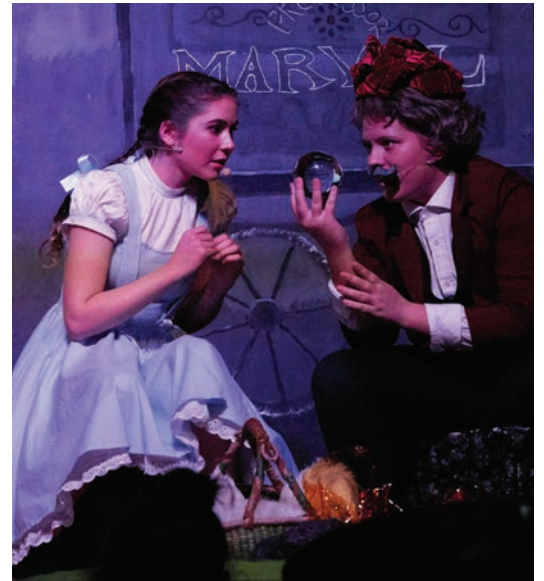

So I need to acknowledge the crew, starting with Judy Ingram and her band, a mix of students, staff and community. One of the things I have appreciated most about their involvement during the performances is their ability to improvise when students might miss their cue or indeed start singing the wrong song. That obviously requires a great deal of skill and quick thinking and I know I speak on behalf of the cast when I say thank you very much for putting up with our musical deficiencies.

In terms of the sets, projections and props, we have had a team of staff members who have worked way above and beyond the call to meet the significant challenges of this show. When I ask Rob Seale and Andrew Herpes if I can have a basket that can lift an actor from the stage or a Yellow Brick Road that winds its way through the audience all the way to the back of the hall; or when I ask Danica Enks if I can have an enormous hour glass or lollypop sticks; or when I ask Chris Steele if I can have six stage flats painted back and front; or when I ask Sam Cornall if he can produce projections of actors morphing from one character to another, the attitude was always what they could do and not what they couldn't.

Under the coordination of Colleen Sorrensen, the sourcing and construction of costumes has also been a considerable effort. I know Colleen's resourcefulness has been tested in ensuring all of our groups of actors and dancers have been properly and imaginatively costumed and I also thank all of the parents, and especially Rachel Battle, for your contribution in that area of production.

Our chief choreographer Natasha Donaldson worked hard with the actors and dancers to make sure we were moving creatively on stage and she was ably supported by Layne Ross, who found a multitude of ways to contribute to the production.

As always, we've been blessed with an extraordinary production team, including the relentlessly hard-working production managers James Latimore and Mr Fix-it Stephen Hester. They've been ably supported up there in the box by lighting operator Kyden De Angelis, sound operator Lachlan Gorton and projections and spot operator Kyle Atkins. We've had an exceptional stage manager in Emily Dulihanty. Our backstage crew has been remarkable in their reliability to get the job done, led by the always professional Riko Fitzgerald.

THE WIZARD OF OZ

I also want to acknowledge librarian Lara Field for liaising with the primary schools and community groups. Our admin staff, especially Patrice Reynolds and Amanda Moore, whose workload skyrockets at this time of year with all the bookings, ticketing, programs, etc. etc. etc. We are always grateful for the unrelenting support from our school leadership team of principal Trudi Edman, deputy Mik Wisely and Admin Manager Christine Moulds. Again they appreciate this as a valuable educational, cultural and social experience for our students. We may not have the shmick sound (we can't mic all of the actors) or the lighting equipment (they don't even make the bulbs anymore for some of the lights we use), or tiered seating (please forgive us for having to climb over other people to get to your seat). We may not have any of the kind of resources that you might find in a non-government school, but I reckon we do alright with resourcefulness, hard work and imagination.

Finally, what about our exceptional students? As usual, we've had over 100 working on this show at different times throughout the process, including valuable contributions from make-up artists, front of house crew, painters, builders, T-shirt coordinators and even dog handlers. Thank you to Liz Howarth and her family for allowing Mouse to be a part of our show. He did an awesome job and I'm sure he'll be negotiating for a better deal on his next contract.

Of course, it is our cast who are most under the pump because they are the ones who ultimately have to get up on stage and tell this wonderful story. They are an amazing group of young people, led by five extremely talented actors in the principal roles. Yes, that's five because the role of Dorothy was played by two actors who shared the role over the six performances. Aneka Hooke, who you saw as Dorothy tonight, has been the cast leader of this production from the get-go, getting her lines down, performing with absolute conviction and being the model of professionalism that every director wants in his cast (Judy Garland would be proud); the other Dorothy, Anna Rose Seale, who it is worth mentioning is two years younger than the other principal players, has come a long way from being too shy to get up on stage at a MAD night last year. What an incredible achievement to perform on par with her more experienced colleagues on stage. Ethan Bird as the Tinman was an actor who just slowly built his performance so that he was peaking at the right time. A really nice nuanced performance. Despite this being his first performance in a musical Will Bowden is clearly a natural talent who can own a stage and deliver a character that just demands your attention. Awesome. And Charlotte Maslen. Wow! Just wow! Everything she does she does with 110% effort and 120% talent. And again, a great role model for our younger performers.

Finally thank you to all the families and friends out there who have supported these students on this journey. Helping them with lines, driving to rehearsal, buying costumes, even trying them on for their kids. I'm sure you are as proud of them as we are.

Mr Scott Davis, Director

THE WIZARD OF OZ

From the Musical Director

Our musical for 2019 “The Wizard of Oz’ has again been a challenging musical journey. I have been Musical Director for twelve musicals during my time here at Gloucester High, and have helped unofficially in several more. The musical score for this production has presented us with many challenges, however we have been blessed to have some excellent support from our students and some accomplished musicians from the local community. Once again, this musical has required a complete orchestral arrangement and we have been fortunate in having string, woodwind, brass, percussion, guitar and piano players who have come along to play for us.

After the exhaustive audition process, and after assigning the major roles we finally received a copy of the music. The band began practising way back in February. These dedicated musicians have been coming along each Monday night since then. Many thanks must go to these dedicated people; students and adults alike who have made my job easier with their professional approach to the show.

The students taking part in this production have also been challenged by the demands made upon them by the score. They have also been practising for some time to prepare for the final performances. This time we have many new faces in the cast as well as some seasoned performers. Charlotte Maslen, Anneka Hooke, Bronte Wisely, Bella Yates and Ethan Bird are performing in their second GHS musical and have been a great help to the newcomers who are appearing for the first time. I would like to congratulate all the performers who have done such a great job in learning their lines and for preparing for some very difficult songs.

I would like to personally thank our technical crew, Stephen Hester, James Latimore, Kyle Atkins, Lachlan Gorton and Kyden De Angelis. You boys are fantastic and have done an awesome job.

Thank you so very much to the student band members, Ryan, Charlie, Caiden, Hamish, Zeke, Lily and Xavier and the amazing community band members and staff, Michael De Angelis, Jodie House, Gina McClure, Jane Richardson, Sarah Soupdis, Bob Swadling and Felicity Willis. We would be lost without you, thank you!

I acknowledge your continuing support and hope that you will all join us again in 2021.

Judy Ingram, Musical Director

PRINCIPAL'S REPORT

As I reflect over the last two weeks, I am again amazed at the amount and variety of activities offered to our students.

Firstly, The Wizard of Oz was such a wonderful success. It was the culmination of many weeks of hard work and dedication from students, staff and community. This event truly brings not only the school community together but the whole of the Gloucester community. The feedback from community members and organisations has been overwhelming. This is testament to the vision and directorship of Scott Davis and Judy Ingram. It also highlighted the importance staff placed on this. The last two weeks has been very difficult for staff in making adjustments to lessons because many students were involved in the rehearsals and then the performance week. We had over 100 students participating in the production.

The latter half of term two has been very busy. Prior to the musical students were sitting their half yearly examinations and then teachers were involved with report writing. The reports are currently being edited and it is expected that they will be issued to students on Friday.

This week we have been celebrating NAIDOC week. On Monday the whole school attended a flag raising ceremony and Lachlan Harvey in Year 9 played the didgeridoo while students raised the flag. On Tuesday a number of our Aboriginal students attended a painting workshop in Taree. They are contributing to an Aboriginal designed mural for the Taree Hospital. On Thursday students had the opportunity to watch the film; Teach a Man to Fish. This was written and directed by Taree man Grant Saunders. Our NAIDOC events conclude on Thursday with a Volleyball game between students, staff and community groups.

Year 11 students are currently enjoying themselves in Jindabyne, supervised by Mr De Angelis and Mrs Sorrensen. This is a wonderful experience for our senior students. The camp is run by NSW Sport and Recreation and they cover components of the mandatory Life Ready 25 hour course.

On Wednesday students went to Newcastle University to get a feel for campus life and hear about courses on offer. This is one of the components of our transition program. Also on Wednesday, a number of students participated in the annual Bulahdelah / Gloucester Gala Day. We hosted it this year and came away with the Chris Hoare Cup. Congratulations to all who participated and thanks to the staff who trained students and organised the day.

Also on Wednesday, I travelled to Newcastle to be presented with a defibrillator from the Joshua Caruso Foundation. The Foundation was set up by Joshua's parents, Joe and Belinda Caruso in memory of their son who died suddenly of an undiagnosed heart condition on his way to school. It was later diagnosed as Hypertrophic Cardiomyopathy (HCM). HCM is the most common cause of heart-related sudden death in young people, yet little is known about the condition. Very few people are aware of it, making detection and prevention difficult. The Foundation aims to raise money and awareness to combat HCM and to prevent other parents from suffering the same tragedy that they did. This is the link to the Foundation if you would like further information on how you may like to support other organisations in receiving a defibrillator either through donations or attending functions.

HOSPITALITY EXCURSION TO THE HUNTER VALLEY

Year 12 Hospitality students recently travelled to the Hunter Valley to further their knowledge and understanding of the Hospitality Industry.

The excursion began with a tour of the Hunter Valley Resort, before a pizza-making demonstration. The Head Chef provided many interesting points to ensure a successful pizza! While the students' pizza dough was 'proving', they made their way to the 'grape stomping' area. The students were divided into two groups so the competition could begin. Shoes and socks off, pants rolled up and with the cold, squishy grapes between their toes the 'stomping' began. The team who could fill a bottle the quickest was announced the winner! With plenty of support and cheering from the sidelines I believe both teams were winners! Back to the kitchen to finish our pizzas for lunch. A delicious and diverse range of toppings awaited the students. Once completed, the pizzas were carried to the pizza oven while we waited hungrily and, of course, patiently.

Next stop, the Sabor Dessert House. We were amazed at the elaborate and intricate designs of the desserts. The students enjoyed the Sabor 'tasting plate' to savour a few of the different flavours and textures the dessert house had to offer.

Last stop, the 'Smelly Cheese Factory'. An opportunity to taste some of the many cheeses and olives the factory had to offer. Then the gelato's, sooooo many to choose from! It was a tricky choice though eventually the students headed for the bus, their gelato in hand!

The students were delightful! These mature senior students demonstrated once again they are excellent role models for Gloucester High. I would like to extend a very big thank you to Mrs Margo Cameron for driving the bus and accompanying the students. Although her time is precious, the students appreciate that without her they would not be able to enjoy such an excursion.

Thank you Year 12 Students for such a fun day!

Mrs Louise Harris

BULAHDELAH GALA DAY

The Bulahdelah Gala day held on Wednesday this week, represented the 15th year of the Chris Hoare Cup. Chris, a student from Bulahdelah, was tragically killed in a car accident. His parents donated the trophy in his memory to ensure the annual Open Boys Rugby League match between Gloucester and Bulahdelah.

Now, the Gala day consists of U16 Girls Soccer, Open Girls Netball, U14 Rugby League, Open Girls Touch, Open Boys Soccer and Open Boys Rugby League between the two schools.

Many thanks to all the coaches, referees/volunteers, and parents who support this annual event. A fun day was had by all, consisting of all games being played with good sportsmanship.

ARTWORKS ON DISPLAY

We currently have a fantastic display of artwork in our school foyer.

Year 11 Visual Art students have on display the first body of work for their Preliminary HSC course.

Also on display are Year 10 photos in the form of Multiples, their first body of work for this year.

Parents/carers are welcome to view the display during school hours.

NEXTWAVE FILM WORKSHOP

Screenwave International Film Festival is a film festival held in Coffs Harbour every January. Additionally, SWIFF hosts a film competition for young filmmakers from regional and rural areas of NSW, named Nextwave.

On 18 June, Nextwave representatives Kate and Saige visited our school and ran a filmmaking workshop with ten students. They taught us about roles on set, variety of camera angles and the importance of strong stories. They brought with them the latest film equipment and worked with us to replicate a scene from Spiderman: Into the Spider-Verse.

Noah Jeffreys and I submitted a film to the competition last year and made it to the finals, which consisted of 20 films selected from over 70 submitted. It was an incredible experience and we would recommend everyone work on a film for the competition this year. It is a lot of fun collaborating with others and sharing the experience.

The theme of this year's competition is 'Discovery', must contain the item 'Game', and must not exceed 6 minutes. Entries close on Monday 23rd of September. More information can be found at <http://nextwavefilmfest.com.au/>
